French start-up Beekast has announced its €2.7 million fundraising from various investors, including venture capital firm iSource and business angels that are part of Paris Business Angels and Val'Angels networks.

As a web and mobile solution for interactive and collaborative events, Beekast has already over 300 clients. This fundraising will help the new start-up company created in 2014 boost its development in France and internationally.

Beekast was advised by AUGUST DEBOUZY, with a team led by Julien Wagmann, Partner, Julien Włodarczyk, Counsel, and Maxime Legourd, associate, in matters relating to corporate law, and Philippe Lorentz, Partner, and Lydia Kopiejwski for tax law aspects.

iSource was assisted by law firm Joffe & Associés, with Christophe Joffe, Partner, and Fanny Malgat, associate.

About Beekast: Created in 2014 by Yassine Chabli, Said El Haddati and Quentin Georget, Beekast provides organisations with a collaborative communication platform intended to make customer events more productive and interactive. Beekast is part of the 2016 Winners of the "Start You Up" legal assistance program created by AUGUST DEBOUZY.
