BIOGRAPHY COUNSEL

Roxane has developed a solid knowledge in data protection, advising on both contentious and non-contentious matters. Roxane's practice also covers commercial and contractual law as well as life sciences. Roxane thus brings a holistic approach to the client's projects and understands the legal needs of clients from various industries.

Roxane notably assists clients from various sectors on all aspects of data protection and carries out comprehensive data protection compliance assessments. She assists clients from the life sciences sector in matter of health data protection issues and other health regulatory questions. She also helps clients in the drafting and negotiating of complex contracts.

Roxane has also in-house counsel experience since she was seconded during several months to a U.S. group and ensured day-to-day legal needs of its French subsidiaries.

Prior to joining August Debouzy, Roxane worked at the Paris offices of two well-known global law firms.
